107 Chicago St.
Brooklyn, MI 49230

Service: Assistive technology (AT) services to assist people with devices and training to be more independent at home, work, or school. AT includes low-tech devices to help with everyday tasks like dressing, cooking, and high-tech systems for controlling lights and thermostats, and access to computers, smartphones, and tablets. We can help find the right AT solution and provide set-up and training.
Cost: Please call for details, services and equipment may be available at no cost for qualified people.
